terprets Today's News
From War Zones

Mobilization of Germany's huntmen to increase the food supply of the country gives an almost whimsical view of the potential disaster in the English blockade.

It isn't meant to be facious, of course, and it's a smart move in view of the abundance of deer and small game in west Prussia and the newly annexed Polish territory.

Goering is an eager hunter and fisherman. I had a bird's eye view
a year ago of his magnificent preserve at Berchtesgaden, in the Bavarian Alps, where he has a lordly
home near the mountain retreat of the fuhrer. Undoubtedly Goering will take a hand in keeping the wolf from Germany's door
with his sports gun.

But Goering, as economic dictator of the reich, would be the last to treat lightly the sea-trap
that caught Germany two decades ago. He must recognize it as the most potent weapon that the allies
can turn against the fatherland.

There is a grim fascination in watching the test of brute strength between England and Germany as the Britons try to tighten their blockade into a complete strangle-hold about the fiercely resisting reich.

It isn't spectacular, this conflict which is being waged beneath the cloak of the fall fogs that blanket
the English Channel and the North sea. But it is the most vital war operation going forward at this moment, for upon success or failure of the blockade may depend the outcome of the European upheaval.

Both sides are claiming the advantage thus far and Nazi officialdom declares that the blockade can't break Germany this time as it did in the World war. The nazis are expecting to remedy any shortage in supplies through their new-found brotherhood with Russia—an expectation which they alone can justify or refute.

Unfortunately, if a blockade is successful it means hunger for civilians. The approach of starvation is the immediate cause of Germany's collapse in the last war.

Sen. King Asks Probe of Third Term Activity

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A charge by John L. Lewis that assistants of two cabinet members had tried to engineer a western conference to start a third term
boom brought from Senator King (D-Utah) today a demand for a full report on the officials' activities.

In a letter last night to Gov.
Clifton L. Olson of California,
Lewis declared that a January
meeting of "progressive leaders"
in 11 western states had been arranged by Norman N. Littell, assistant to Attorney General Murphy, and Marshall E. Dimock, second assistant secretary of labor.

Lewis said Labor's Non-Partisan League, which he heads, would have no part in the conference
because, among other things, labor
had been excluded from "making suggestions for a legitimate program."

Friends said, however, that Lewis' letter indicated nothing about his views on another term
for President Roosevelt. The CIO leader expressed doubt that "the president has knowledge of or would approve the plans of those overzealous individuals responsible for this program."

Question of Law
Lewis also raised the question of whether federal employees could legally organize a political gathering under the Hatch law.

Senator King told reporters he would write at once to Attorney General Murphy and Secretary
Perkins for complete information
on the activities of Littell and Dimock.

"I am amazed that Mr. Lewis, a contributor to the last Democratic campaign, should bring this out,"
King declared, adding: "This time
Mr. Lewis is right."

Lewis said that one of his reasons for opposing the conference was
"the slight of Senator Burton
Wheeler and other great liberals
in the west who have not been consulted and who are slated to be excluded from the conference."

Wheeler (D-Mont) told reporters he had "heard rumors of this
so-called progressive conference."

"I just assumed," he said, "that it was being promoted by some of the over-zealous young men in Washington without the president's knowledge to try to draft
him for a third term."

ADMINISTRATION WINS FIRST OF HOUSE BATTLES

Procedure for Considering Neutrality Bill is Adopted

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—
Administration neutrality forces,
advocating arms embargo repeal,
won their first test of strength in the house today when their chosen procedure for considering the administration neutrality measure was adopted.

The test came on a "rule" providing that the bill be sent to a joint senate-house conference to compose differences between senate and house-approved neutrality measures. The former contains no arms embargo while the latter,
passed last session, does.

This action to send the bill to conference came a few moments
after the house beat down, 237 to 176, a Republican attempt aimed at opening up the legislation to house amendments.

Foes of the embargo repeal still
may get an opportunity to effect
changes in the legislation through instructing the house members of the conference committee as to what they should insist upon in the negotiations with the senate.

Indications were the house
would devote the next two days
to debating the question of instructing the conferees. An agreement as to the time was not reached immediately, however.

"What I or anyone else might say will not change a single vote," declared Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.)
of the rules committee.

In blithe disregard, Rep. Horton (R-Wyo) retorted that approval of the procedure laid down for the house by its leaders "spells war."

Booted By Republicans
To an almost full membership
and packed galleries, Sabath called the procedure decided on by the leadership "most liberal" while Taylor declared it was "arbitrary
and a subterfuge."

Loud boos from the Republican side greeted a remark by Sabath
which in effect charged Rep. Fish (R-N.Y.), a leader of the fight to retain the arms embargo, with aiding Hitler.

"Young gentlemen on the other side," Sabath said, "are making a mistake in trying to follow a gentleman who has been advising us wrongly before and who has been trying to deliver us to Hitler on his last visit to Europe."

While in Europe shortly before the war broke out Fish proposed a sort of pre-war armistice with all powers laying down their arms
and seeking a solution at the conference table.

Speaker Bankhead told reporters
that prospects for house approval
of the measure were "all right."

The administration sought to have the house adopt parliamentary procedure which would complete action on the senate neutrality bill before the week-end. Embargo advocates, after trying unsuccessfully to block the proposal
in the rules committee yesterday,
carried their fight to the floor.

Rep. Fish, leader of the embargo forces, called the procedure a
"vicious gag," contending that it would not let the members offer
any amendments to the senate legislation.

Trouble-Chased Snow Cruiser Out of Ditch

Lima, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The trouble-chased South Pole snow
cruiser was worked out of a 10-foot ditch today and headed for a highway to resume its broken trip to Boston.

Trapped after it toppled from a bridge Saturday, the 35-ton machine was edged back to level
ground last night and crew members said the eastward journey
probably would get under way sometime today. Some repairs to machinery may have to be made
first, they added.

The machine was built in Chicago for Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's forthcoming Polar expedition.

Moline Girl Gets Lead Role in Movie by Out-Smarting Goldwyn

Hollywood, Oct. 31.—(AP)—
Doris Davenport won a long-term movie contract and the feminine lead in Gary Cooper's next picture
today by out-smarting people who "knew her when."

Producer Samuel Goldwyn
signed her, under the assumed name of Doris Jordan, for the lead opposite Cooper in "Vinegar-room," a drama based upon the Texas historical figure, "Judge"
Roy Bean.

Not until she penned her real
name to the contract was it discovered that she was a former movie extra.

Six years ago, at the age of 15,
Doris, a native of Moline, Ill., was chosen as a "Goldwyn Girl." Nothing much came of it, and she dropped into extra work.

Three Concerts Here Depend on Dixon Response

Hopeful that there will be enough people in Dixon and community who are appreciative of the best in music and art to make it possible for the Dixon Concert League to present three outstand-

winter, officers and workers of the league are continuing their solicitation of memberships in the organization, which will present
the first number—the Graff Ballet

second number will be the famous night.

The Graff Ballet, the introductory attraction, is headed by Grace

known artists, and their company
of 18 artists who present their stories in rhythmic movements rather than with words. In their last appearance at the Goodman
theater in Chicago the Graff Ballet played to four consecutive

Court Asked Not to Award Claims Against Germany

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—
Lawyers representing a client
with a $599,373 claim against the mixed claims commission asked
district court today to enjoin federal officials from carrying out
the $50,000,000 award announced yesterday in settlement of claims against Germany in the Black Tom and Kingsland sabotage cases.

The plaintiff, Z. & F. assets realization corporation, organized under the laws of Delaware and having offices in New York City, contended the mixed claims commission has no power to declare that Germany was responsible for the sabotage.

Z. & F. corporation argued that an earlier decision, on October 1, 1939, dismissed charges of German guilt, and that this decision still was binding.

The corporation said it had taken over claims and rights formerly held under the name of Zimmerman & Forsythe.

Among other arguments of the plaintiff was one that direction
for the entry of an award was without notice to the German government.

SAFETY OF CREW OF FLINT ASKED BY WASHINGTON

Britain and Germany
Asked to Avoid Imperil-
ing Actions

BULLETIN

Bergen, Norway, Oct. 31.—
(AP)—The United States
freighter City of Flint in command of a German prize crew felt her way southward along the northern Norwegian coast
today with a Norwegian naval watch-dog close on her heels.

The city of Flint was sighted
off Lodingen light at 11 A. M.
(4 A. M. CST) while steaming ship behind was a Norwegian
cruiser, believed to be the 1,170-ton
destroyer Sleipner, which escorted the captured American vessel out of Tromsø waters
yesterday.

The appearance of the City of Flint of Lodingen on the inland route down one of the world's most broken coasts was taken as an indication that the German prize crew had requested and obtained permission to move in Norwegian territorial waters.

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—
The United States asked both Britain and Germany today to avoid any action which would imperil unnecessarily the captive American crew aboard the freighter City of Flint, now somewhere in the blockade North sea
bound for Germany.

While the American request did not ask precautions against any specific action it was learned that two eventualities were most feared by officials:

First, that the German prize crew might blow up the vessel if British warships attempted to capture her.

Second, that the British might sink the ship.

The latter possibility was held
by most officials to be less likely,
as it was believed the British
would prefer to take the vessel
which was carrying a cargo to England when the Germans seized her two weeks ago.

The state department instructed Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy in London and Alexander C. Kirk,
United States charge d'affaires in Berlin, to ask the British and German governments to avoid exposing the American crew to unnecessary danger.

In connection with official fears
of some perilous occurrence it was recalled here that the radio operator of the City of Flint, who slipped ashore at Tromsø, Norway, when the ship first reached
there more than a week ago, related that members of the German prize crew said they were planting explosives with the intention of blowing her up if necessary to avoid her falling into the hands of the British.

Louis Scott Found Dead in Bed Today

Louis Scott, 71, a resident of this locality for several years,
was found dead in bed at the Mrs.
Clarence Smith home, 205 Hennapue avenue, this morning at 7 o'clock. He had been ailing for several weeks. Mr. Scott for a number of years farmed in Nachusa township and was well known throughout this locality.

His wife and one son preceded him in death and his only survivor is a brother residing at Gettysburg, Pa. The body was taken to the Preston funeral home
and plans are being made to send the body to Gettysburg for burial.

Roosevelt Pro- claims Nov. 23rd as Thanksgiving

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—
Proclaiming Thursday, November 23, as a day of general thanksgiving, President Roosevelt asked today that thanks be offered "for the hope that lives within us" of the coming of an eventual world peace.

The proclamation designated the next to last Thursday instead of the last Thursday in the month
as Thanksgiving Day in accordance with Roosevelt's decision to move up the holiday for business reasons. Some states, however, have decided to celebrate Nov. 30.

Roosevelt said in the proclamation that it was fitting to continue a "hallowed custom" begun by President Washington when he asked the nation to lay down all tasks for one day in the year and give thanks for the blessings
granted by divine providence.

"Our nation" has gone steadily forward in the application of democratic processes to economic and social problems," the president said.

"We have faced the specters of business depression, of unemployment and of widespread agricultural distress, and our positive efforts to alleviate these conditions have met with heartening
results."

"We have also been permitted to see the fruition of methods
which we have undertaken in the realms of health, social welfare
and the conservation of resources."

"As a nation we are deeply grateful that in a world of turmoil we are at peace with all countries and we especially rejoice in the strengthened bonds of our friendship with the other peoples of the western hemisphere."

"Let us, on the day set aside for this purpose, give thanks to the Ruler of the universe for the strength which He has vouchsafed us to carry on our daily
labors and for the hope that lives
within us of the coming of a day
when peace and the productive activities of peace shall reign on every continent."

PLETCH CHANGES TALE OF MURDER IN DIVING PLANE

"Flying Lochinvar" Now
Says He Shot Victim
Without Warning

Macon, Mo., Oct. 31.—(AP)—In
a new account of the murder in an airplane of Carl Bivens, Brookfield, Mo., flying instructor, Prosecuting Attorney Vincent S.
Moody said today Ernest Pletch
(Larry) Pletch, 29-year-old amateur pilot, had admitted that he shot and killed Bivens without apparent reason 5,000 feet in the air.

"I just don't know why I killed
him, but I did," Moody quoted Pletch as saying.

The Frankfort, Ind., farmhand,
who always had been "crazy"
about airplanes, said he had taken flying lessons from Bivens "as a stall" to steal the plane and use it to prove some of his "inventions."

Pletch admitted, Moody says,
that he had lied when he told Indiana authorities, after his arrest Saturday night, that Bivens
had planned to steal the borrowed plane with him and fly to Mexico. He said in that statement that he shot Bivens during a mid-air quarrel when Bivens "backed cut."

Describing Bivens' fatal flight, Pletch related, according to the prosecutor, that after 40 minutes
the plane had reached an altitude of 5,000 feet and was "zipping alone."

"Carl was telling me that I had natural ability and how I should follow that line," Pletch was quoted as saying.

Shot Without Warning

"I had a revolver in my pocket
and, without saying a word to him, I took it out of my overalls
and I fired a bullet into the back of his head. He never said a word.
He never knew what struck him."
"His head fell forward and hit the throttle—there are dual controls in a training ship—and threw it wide open. His feet wedged upon the controls as his body slumped down in the seat. We were both strapped in with safety belts."

"The ship began to pitch and then to dive. It went crazy and I remembered reading about a dying man 'stiffening' at the controls, and then I fired another shot into the back of his head."

Governor Told of Vacancy on Circuit Bench

Speculation today was rife
throughout the Fifteenth district
concerning a successor to the late Judge Harry Edwards of this city, who died Friday night. Circuit Clerk Edwin S. Rosecrans
today certified to Governor Henry Horner official notice of the existence of a vacancy in the district through the untimely death
of Judge Edwards.

While it was indicated that a special election would be necessary to choose a successor to Judge Edwards, some members of the Lee county bar speculated that Governor Horner would not call a special election until the April, 1940 primary. Members of the Lee county bar also indicated that a successor would be named from this county which has held
a circuit judgeship for many years.

In Freeport it was reported that Judge Albert H. Manus, Democrat, who was defeated last spring for re-election, might be considered a candidate, but local friends of the Freeport jurist stated that Judge Manus would not seek return to the bench.

President Robert L. Warner of the Lee county bar association,
when interviewed today, stated
that no meeting was planned for the near future to consider selection of possible candidates for the judgeship from Lee county. At the same time, local attorneys had mentioned two possible candidates who were recommended as having the necessary qualifications to serve on the bench.

HIGH YIELDS IN CORN REPORTED IN LEE COUNTY

Franklin Grove Farmer May Be Able To Win Contest Honors

Several reports of exceptionally high corn yields have been received around the county as picking progresses. George Thier of near Amboy had one field of 15.6 acres that was drilled in May 18 and shelled October 18 that made 118 bushels per acre.

Previously tested the Thier field showed 116 bushels per acre. Tested in the same manner a 12 acre piece belonging to Bert Butler has shown 133 bushels per acre. Whether the test will be as near the actual yield as Thier's has not been determined.

C. W. Welsh, another Amboy farmer, had a yield of 105.15 bushels per acre.

Fred Kesselring of Franklin Grove has reported one of the highest corn yields produced in the state for entry into the 1939 National DeKalb Corn Growing contest.

Official Yield
Kesselring's official contest yield of 123.15 bushels of corn per acre is expected not only to place him high in the county and state divisions of the contest, but among the top entries of the entire nation as well. The big yield will produce as much corn from five acres as the average farmer in the nation harvests from 15 and is one of the largest yields reported to date in the national contest.

Kesselring grew the crop with hybrid seed corn on his Lee county farm. The remarkable yield virtually assures him of winning one of the master corn growers' trophies awarded to producers of the five biggest county contest-yields, and promises to boost him to state and possibly even national corn growing honors.

ASHTON FUTURE FARMERS' SHOW IS THIS WEEK

(Telegraph Special Service)

Ashton, Oct. 31—The eighth annual grain and poultry show, sponsored by the F. F. A. boys of the local high school will be held on Friday and Saturday of this week in the basement of the Memorial building. From Friday noon until 6 P. M. is planned to be the entry and assembly period. All grain and poultry to be judged must be in the basement not later than 6 P. M. for the entries will be judged at that time. The exhibits may be viewed all day Saturday, and any one who is interested may bring exhibits and the public is invited to attend the show. The exhibits may be removed any time after 5 P. M. on Saturday.

A list of the breeds to be included in the show is as follows: White Plymouth Rock, Barred Plymouth Rock, Buff Plymouth Rock, White Wyandotte, Rhode Island Red, all other heavy breeds, White Leghorns, and all other light breeds. For each breed there will be three classes, namely, pen, cockerel and pullet. Each person will not be allowed more than two entries in each class. An entry fee of 10 cents per bird or sample of corn will be charged the exhibitor, in order to defray cost of ribbons, cost of judging, rent on materials, etc.

The corn show will include the following varieties: Ten ears of sample yellow hybrid, 10 ears sample open-pollinated corn (any color), one peck shelled yellow hybrid, and one peck shelled open pollinated (any color).

Ribbons and prizes will be awarded to the first, second and third prize winners in each class. In addition there will be two championship rosettes and one grand champion rosette given to those respective winners in the poultry show.

An instructive and entertaining program is planned for Saturday evening at which time a moving picture of the World's Poultry Congress will be shown. Included in the evening's program is entertainment by the Semi-Solid Ramblers, a widely known entertaining group.

Ashton merchants will contribute prizes which will be awarded to the winners. The prizes include a wide variety of useful and valuable merchandise.

Report $153,828.348
To Farmers in Quarter

(By The Associated Press)
Washington, Oct. 31—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration reported yesterday total expenditures of $153,828,348, including benefit payments to farmers cooperating with crop control programs, during the quarter ending October 1.

Texas led all states with receipt of $25,345,000 in farmer subsidies. Iowa was second with $15,412,000, and Illinois was third with $7,975,000.

Expenditures of other states included: Indiana, $3,301,607; Kentucky $1,874,907; Michigan $651,293; Missouri $5,196,242; Ohio $3,418,700; Wisconsin $1,599,421.

PIATT CO. CORN-HUSKER WINNER OF STATE TITLE

Crowd of 95,000 Sees the Contest Monday on Danville Farm

Danville, Oct. 31—(AP)—A 23-year-old Kentucky-born farm hand was acclaimed today as the Illinois cornhusking champion.

The new titleholder, Eucis "Eo" Vaughn, combined speed with clean husking to finish with a net total of 30.1 bushels in the state championship contest yesterday.

A tremendous outpouring of spectators—estimated at 95,000 by Sheriff F. W. Ward—watched 16 contestants go through their paces on George Wright's farm three miles west of Danville.

Vaughn represented Piatt county, in which he has lived for nine years. He works for his half brother, John Roberts, on a farm near Monticello.

Leland Klein, Woodford county's entrant, placed second with a total of 29.23 bushels. He husked a greater gross load than Vaughn but penalties cut down his score.

Today both Vaughn and Klein headed for Lawrence, Kas., where they will represent Illinois at the national contest Friday.

The new champion, who has been husking corn since he was nine years old, was runnerup in the state meet last year. Klein, who is 21 and has lived his entire life on his father's farm near Metamora, also competed last year but failed to place.

LaSalle Co. Man Third
Donley Martin of LaSalle county finished third in yesterday's husking battle with 28.56 bushels. The defending champion, Irving Bauman of Woodford county, ranked fourth with 27.62. Roy Drennann of Marshall-Putnam counties won the county contest with 49.24 bushels to become the highest qualifier in the state meet but could do no better than fifth in the state classic with 27.62 bushels.

Of the 16 contestants 14 were county winners, one was the defending champion and one was the champion of the host county, Vermilion.

Dean H. P. Rusk of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture fired the starting bomb. Vaughn got off to a fast start and, like Klein, was on his way down the 60-foot long rows for the third time when the 80 minute contest ended.

Vaughn and Klein, neither of whom is married, used a thumb hook in husking. The champion wore a right hand glove but Klein husked barehanded. The field of hybrid corn averaged 100 bushels to the acre and most stalks carried two ears, which proved a handicap to some of the huskers. Vaughn's gross load was 2,138 pounds. Indicative of his clean husking, he missed only 10 pounds of marketable corn—which cost him a penalty of 30 pounds—and left husks averaging only four ounces to each 100 pounds of corn.

He escaped penalty on the husks because each contestant was allowed a leeway of five ounces per hundred pounds of corn.

Klein was penalized 90 pounds when he missed 30 pounds of corn in piling up a gross load of 2,171 pounds. A penalty of 34.74 pounds for having 6 9-16 ounces of husks for each 100 pounds brought his total penalties to 124.74 pounds.

Ideal weather prevailed for the contest although a brisk rain and sleet storm drenched the crowd while the judges were figuring points.

SELL CATTLE

A group of four Lee county dairymen sold cattle at the Illinois State Holstein sale which was held at DeKalb on Saturday, October 21, on the Elworth & Nelson farm. Lee McCracken sold one of his good dairy cows, which he had in his herd under the supervision of the Lee County Dairy Herd Improvement association, with a test of 453 pounds of butterfat and 12,092 pounds of milk. This was sold for $240 to H. A. Myers of Abilene, Kansas. This was one of the high cows at the sale. Lee had his animals in very excellent shape. Rockyford dairy sold three head, Roi Degner sold one head, and Leo Faivre sold one head.

BULLS ARE MOVED

The Lee County Holstein Breeding Association moved its herd bulls two weeks ago. The five members now have a different bull for breeding purposes the coming year. The plan of the as-

OHIO FESTIVAL TO OFFER FARM FOLKS VARIETY

Three Days of Events Will Start Thursday In Bureau County

(Telegraph Special Service)

Ohio, Oct. 31—Many outstanding features to agriculturists, both young and old, will make the first annual Ohio Fall Festival to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, one of the major attractions of the harvest season in this locality.

The Ohio Future Farmers will be host to the 4-H club members of Bureau county, who have taken corn projects during this last year. Members may exhibit either a ten ear sample or a peck of shelled corn or both. Prizes will be given for this show by the Bureau County Farm Bureau. Exhibits should be taken to the agriculture room in the high school not later than 9:30 A. M. on November 2 or left at the Farm Bureau office on or before 9:00 A. M., November 2. Corn may be taken from the show at 2:00 P. M., Saturday, Nov. 4.

Besides this 4-H show for members taking corn projects there will be a show for regularly enrolled 4-H members who have not taken corn projects. Classes in sociation is to move the culls each year after the herds have gone through a clean test for abortion and tuberculosis. The bull from Smith & Cole was moved to Leo Faivre's farm, Faivre's bull was moved over to Roi Degner's, Roi Degner's bull to Vernon Pomeroy, and Pomeroy's to T. E. Hillison. All the men are having a very nice crop of calves from the first bulls they have used. These five bulls are all the same type of breeding and trace back to Sir Inka May and Carnation Butterking.

TENTATIVE DATE

A tentative date has been set by the Farm Bureau for the annual meeting of Lee County Farm Bureau for December 16. If the Service Company Board at its meeting concurs, it will be a joint affair as last year. This year the men who have been members of the Farm Bureau for twenty years will be honored.

this show are 10 ears yellow, single ear yellow, peck shelled corn, peck soy beans and peck of potatoes. Prizes for this show will be furnished by the Fall Festival.

On Saturday, November 4, at 10 A. M. Paul Dean, Bureau county farm adviser, will discuss the latest results on "Fertilizing Hybrid Corn." Anyone interested is welcome.

Champion Sheep Shearer to Attend

Herbert Peterson, New Windsor, Ill., champion sheep shearer, will give a demonstration of sheep shearing speed on Friday night.

Mr. Peterson won the state contest with a time-cracking record of two minutes and 46 seconds. He has given demonstrations at the New Windsor fair and many other fair gatherings in the state. The champion will not only give a demonstration but will tell the audience of some of his experiences in shearing sheep and also explain the technique that he uses in attaining such a speed.

Boyer To Speak

Dr. A. L. Boyer, professor of political science and head of the social science department at Illinois State Normal University at Normal, Illinois, will speak at the fall festival on "War: What is the Situation in Europe?" on Thursday evening.

Mr. Boyer is considered one of the Midwest's best informed speakers on foreign affairs. He is noted for his fluent and dynamic delivery. He is in great demand as a speaker for social and civic clubs because his ability to present information in such a clear and concise manner that the citizen with an average knowledge of foreign affairs can readily understand him.

Mr. Boyer will discuss the British blockade of Germany, how the U. S. can keep out of war, the position of Russia, the European dark horse, and will also compare the sea, air and land power of the different countries involved.

Mr. Boyer's speech is of the type which appeals to the persons who are not only interested in what is happening but why it is happening.

Popular Comedian

Glade Tabor, widely known for his clever imitations, impersonations, and solo musical comedy acts, has been obtained for Friday night of the festival. Mr. Tabor has had wide experience in the field of entertainment, having put audiences into stitches at the state husking contest, the Illinois Agricultural Association convention and many other events. He has also been guest artist at the radio station barn dance in Peoria.

School Pupils to Parade

Pupils of the grade and high schools of Ohio and vicinity will be given an opportunity of participating in a parade which will be part of the festival on Saturday.

Grade school pupils may compete in the following classes: bicycle, wagon, doll buggy, riding ponies and horses, scooters and dogs.

High school classes consist of bicycles, riding ponies and horses.

best hard-time costume for boys and quaintest and most attractive costume for girls.

Entries will be judged on attractiveness and originality and conduct.

No arrangement need be made for entries. The parade will start at 2:30 p. m., from the high school building.

Ribbons will be given for three places in each class. American Boy and American Girl subscriptions will be given first place winners in the parade.

Any boy or girl who will not be able to enter any of the above classes is invited to bring whatever they have and enter it in the parade.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS ON PRODUCTION CREDIT

Are All Loans Made the Same Way?

No. Production credit is flexible. Each loan is set up to meet the needs of the individual farmer. For example, a feeder might desire to obtain his loan all at one time while a loan to finance a crop may be advanced in several installments, or a loan to buy dairy cows may be made at one time and repaid in several installments out of milk or cream checks.

Dixon Pays Gay Tribute to Merry Jack-O'-Lantern

Witchery Is Brewing For All Hallow's Eve

Dixon and Surrounding Towns Will Join in Fun; Herbie Kay's Orchestra to Play at Armory

All social activity of this evening revolves around one central theme—Hallowe'en—and everywhere that parties are gathered, goblins and witches will prance about in decoration, pumpkin faces will grin from cornstalks, and crowds of guests out for a good time will be making the most of the opportunity to lose themselves behind a false face and a funny costume.

The town—or most of it anyhow—is expected to turn out for the benefit dance of the Nurses' Alumnae association, which is bringing Herbie Kay, noted dance band maestro, and his versatile musicians to Dixon's new Armory ballroom. Corralled by hard-working members of the Alumnae association's round-up crew, hundreds of dance-goers have purchased tickets for the dance, which promises to be northern Illinois' biggest Hallowe'en party.

Mrs. Harry D. Miller and Mrs. Richard Belcher head the arrangement committee for tonight's dance. Assisting them with their party plans were Miss Irene Page, Miss Mary Williams, Miss Elsie Spangler, Miss Doris Boyer, Miss Rita Fortney, Mrs. Robert Sworn, Miss Lucille Stauffer, and Mrs. George McClanahan. Miss Orsa Butler, Miss Ethel Reeser, Mrs. William Frye, and Mrs. Kenneth O. Cook composed the decorating committee.

Though the dance is not to be a masquerade, the committee members have arranged plenty of atmosphere which goes hand in hand with All Hallow's Eve.

Amboy Celebrates
Amboy's Hallowe'en party began this afternoon, and is to be climaxed this evening with a colorful torch parade, reminiscent of the days of the old political marching clubs. Alderman B. L. Hewitt heads the parade committee.

Greased pole climbing contests, a poultry scramble, boxing matches, music by the Doodledorfer band of Peru, and contests for pumpkin and corn growers are included on the gala program. Serving of free pumpkin pie and coffee began at 1 o'clock, and was to continue until the supply was exhausted.

Oregon Frolic
At Oregon, members of the Junior Woman's club will be hosting a Hallowe'en frolic for both young and old in the Oregon Coliseum. Prizes are being offered for the best costumes at this city-wide party.

The Junior Municipal band, the Junior Legion Drum and Bugle corps, Boy and Girl Scouts and other organizations will enter into the evening's festivities. Games and contests are expected to round out a full evening of pleasure.

There will be no admission, as the expense of the frolic is paid for in advance by interested citizens.

Ashton Plans Party

The Mills and Petrie Memorial gymnasium is to be the center of Hallowe'en festivities in Ashton this evening, when the city's second annual party gets underway at 6:30 o'clock. Everyone is invited, and no admission charge will be asked.

Winners of the best costume contest will be decided in a grand march. A doll and tricycle parade will highlight the party for first and second graders and pre-school children at 6:30. The older group, including high school students, will meet at 7 o'clock for the grand march which will usher in their evening of fun. The German band will provide music for the march, and several surprise entertainers are promised.

Refreshments will be served at 9:30 o'clock. A "Coffee-Can" campaign was conducted a week ago to finance the celebration.

Dancing at Rochelle
The Moose lodge of Rochelle is sponsoring a Hallowe'en dance this evening for the benefit of the Moose bowling team. Proceeds will be used for bowling shoes, uniforms and entry fees of the team.

ENTERTAIN AT AMBOY HOME

The Loyde Johnsons decorated their home for Hallowe'en on Sunday, when they entertained at a scramble dinner party. Games were played, following the dinner.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grobe, Jr., and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Grobe and family, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ortgiesen and daughter Lois, Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Levan and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Drew and family.

DINNER GUESTS
Mrs. Clara Slick entertained at dinner on Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. John Klitz of Coleta, Mrs. Emma Voltmer of Milledgeville, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Slick and daughter Dorene, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Slick and Bob Stouffer. They were celebrating birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Klitz, Bob Stouffer, and Dorene Slick.

THEATER-DINNER

John Warner, young son of the Harry Warners of East Everett street, will be hosting at a Hallowe'en dinner for ten school friends from the North Central school this evening. Afterward, there is to be a theatre party.

WED IN IOWA; WILL RESIDE IN THIS CITY

Mrs. Carl Powell of Polo announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Genevieve Reink of Stratford, to Robert Chinouth of Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Chinouth of Stratford. The vows were read Saturday afternoon, Oct. 21, at Davenport, Iowa, by the Rev. Lewis J. Krebs.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wolf of Rockford attended the couple, who have taken an apartment at 533 Fifth street, Dixon.

The bride wore a wine-colored frock with white accessories. Both Mr. and Mrs. Chinouth were graduated from Polo Community high school, he with the class of 1936, and she, in 1939. The bridegroom is employed by the Horton Body and Fender Works.

WAYNE FRAZER GIVES COSTUME PARTY FOR 12

Costumed as Red Riding Hood, a band master, Mexicans, Chinese, Turkish and Swedish, together with a lady of crinoline days and other colorful characters, 12 seventh graders from the North Central school became acquainted with each other all over again last evening at a merry Hallowe'en masquerade arranged for their pleasure by Wayne Frazer, younger of the B. J. Frazers' two sons.

Bobbing for apples and other games full of the spirit of the October holiday, were fun for the group. Lunch was served by the host's mother before departure of the guests at 9:30.

DOROTHY CHAPTER PLANS ELECTION

Miss Shottenkirk Becomes Bride of Ernest Jacobson

Miss June Shottenkirk, daughter of the Lee Shottenkirks of Chana, became the bride of Ernest Jacobson of Rochelle in a wedding ceremony solemnized at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Presbyterian church in Rochelle. Only a small party of relatives and friends were invited to witness the simple, single ring ceremony, read by the Rev. Mr. Campbell.

The bride was attired in a blackberry costume suit, with matching accessories, accented by a corsage of gardenias. Miss Winnie Knapp of Ashton, her maid of honor, wore peacock blue with wine accessories, and a corsage of gardenias and roses.

William Osterheld, Jr. of Rochelle served as best man.

Sunday's bride formerly resided in Ashton, and was graduated from Ashton high school with the class of 1935. For several years, she has been employed in the office of Dr. Motlone in Rochelle.

After the ceremony, the bridal party motored to Rockford for a wedding dinner at the Casino. After a brief wedding trip, they will be at home in Rochelle, where the bridegroom is employed at the canning company.

WILL HEAR NOTED FRENCH ORGANIST

Miss Naomi Wolf and Miss Alice and Lucius Thomson will be among those in the audience gathered at the First Methodist church at Oak Park this evening to hear Marcel Dupre, famous French organist, in his Chicago appearance on his present American tour. The recital will be preceded by a dinner in honor of M. Dupre, organist of the Church of St. Sulpice in Paris.

One of the features of the program is to be an improvisation, a feature in which M. Dupre has achieved fame. His recital tour in Australia, New Zealand and Tasmania during the summer brought him a series of ovations. He gave six programs in Melbourne, and a series of performances in Sydney, where M. and Mme. Dupre were officially received by the lord mayor who gave a luncheon in their honor.

M. Dupre is making his seventh tour of America, in the course of which he will visit 40 cities.

DON EDWARDS IS PARTY HOST FOR SCHOOL FRIENDS

A hint of Hallowe'en was brought into the evening's fun, when Don Edwards, son of Dr. and Mrs. Howard M. Edwards, entertained school friends on Saturday night. Games and stunts were planned for the recreation room, with refreshments climaxing the merry event.

Don's guests numbered Jane Ann Sharpe, Marie Haefliger, Joan Ruben, June Harridge, Connie Bunnell, Marilyn Smith, Bob Popma, Robert Jacobson, Bill Haefliger, John Van Nuys, Don Bowers, and Bill Goff.

A BENEFIT AVAILABLE TO ALL

In Geneseo five churches are cooperating in a campaign for larger attendance at Sunday school. Why a special drive should be needed is a mystery not confined to Geneseo. Everyone ought to go to church every Sunday; why everyone doesn't is one of those questions to which there is no answer.

Which leads to the thought that the church, even aside from the fact that it saves souls, is the civilized world's most valuable industry: And when we say "the church" we mean that great aggregation of creeds and denominations founded on worship of the biblical God.

Everyone ought to go to church or support the church to the best of his resources because the church is good for the home, the neighborhood, the community, the nation and the world.

The church is good for the home because it provides moral leadership. It affords a program upon which all can unite, and pleasures which each member of the family can enjoy. The church is good for the neighborhood because it increases property values and is a profound influence for better citizenship and law observance. It is good for the community because it inspires and supports such organizations as the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, to mention only a few, which teach the hand, the heart and the mind. It is good for the nation because statesmen who adhere to its principles guide the people to the green pastures and still waters of public morality. It is good for the world because it points unwaveringly to the only Leader whose teachings can at last clear the earth of trenches and forts, the seas of battleships and the skies of warplanes.

The church is good for the mind. If the mind profits from cultural development, then the church has more than filled its niche in this respect alone. The very noblest works of architecture, painting, sculpture, music, poetry and prose are those inspired by the Carpenter of Nazareth. Our national hymn contains a fervent prayer for protection. Our legislative deliberations are opened with prayer for divine guidance. Who can hear Handel's Hallelujah chorus or Gounod's Ave Maria without being touched by the finger of God?

Whether you attend church or not, or whether you contribute to its support or not, ask yourself this: Who would live in a community with no churches? Who would trust the moral welfare of his daughter or son to a city that had no house of worship?

The church has no classes, no castes. Civilized people look with equal reverence upon both the soaring spire of the majestic cathedral and the steeple of the tiny "meetin' house." There is no de luxe salvation for the rich, no shabbier model for the poor; in the church both the weak and the strong are clad in penitential rags. The plutocrat, with all his wealth, can not buy a breath more of religion than is given free to the humblest cottager. The autocrat, with all his temporal power, can appeal to no God more mighty than the One who hears the prayer of the pauper's child. The church takes no note of color or nationality. The Bible open to the cultured white man is the same as that carried by missionaries to the savage in the wilderness. The church is seeking everybody, whether in dignified temple, or on the dusty street with trumpets and drums.

WHAT DOES THE WAR MEAN TO BUSINESS?

If subsequent analyses bear out present predictions that the American business curve is bending upward once more, full credit for the expansion of domestic markets is likely to go to the war abroad. There is scant reason to deny that any European conflict should produce some effect on American business. No one in this country believed indices would be unaffected when hostilities broke out in September.

It is too early to forecast accurately the eventual results of Europe's conflict on business trends in the United States, but it is interesting to note the theory that the war was merely the instrument rather than the cause of expansion. This point of view is taken by The Annalist in its quarterly review and business forecast edition.

Since the United States was swept into the depression in 1929, industrial production has curved downward, despite a continued increase in population, it is pointed out. From comparative charts, it is concluded that demand for manufacturing output has been restrained during the past 10 years almost to the point where increased consumption must become inevitable.

"It seems reasonable to conclude that the outbreak of war has been merely the spark needed to touch off the latent demand for goods suggested by the marked disparity since 1929 between the growth of the population and the trend of industrial production," The Annalist declares. It follows as a corollary that if a sharp decline would come after the cessation of hostilities, business would shortly find its own level again and proceed with the interrupted expansion.

Furthermore, an increasingly large group of American economists and industrialists say that if the United States enters the war, the post-war outlook would be black. Excessive profits during the period of the war would be clipped by high taxes. Even though there might be enough left to give industrialists an ample share, the somber after-effects do not appeal to business men today.

This country does not want another 1929. Excesses in the business cycle must be eliminated in favor of a steady market flow. War profiteering, in its most sinister connotation, can produce no healthy results. So far, American business men want none of it. For the most part, they have expressed their desire to ride with the normal trend, foregoing the hasty profits that may later lead to ruin.

TRACKING SABOTAGE

No one will blame the citizens of this country for being suspicious of possible sabotage while a war is in progress abroad. Every rumor of destruction by enemies of the government should be checked by the proper authorities.

Such vigilance can, however, be carried too far. It can breed, within the breasts of factory workers, groundless suspicions concerning their fellow-employees. Unchecked, such an attitude on the part of American workers can cause untold distress to perfectly good citizens whose only fault may be that they have a German name or a slight foreign accent.

So far, there have been numerous rumors of sabotage; there has been almost no evidence. If foreign agents in this country were as abundant as the reports would indicate, American factories already would be reduced to shambles.

News Behind THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Oct. 30.—Hitler's manifesto to the German people telling them how he is winning the war, was written by Propaganda Minister Goebbels, whose title accurately betrays the nature of the document.

The facts of the matter, as seen through the best neutral gun-sights here, suggest Hitler is winning the headlines but Britain and France still have the upper hand and are likely to keep it.

It is true the Germans have sunk more British ships than the British admit, although not as many as the Germans claim. These sinkings are dramatic, as was the escape of German seafarers through the blockade and the experimental sub and air attacks upon British bases. But the military value of such sensational events is yet to be obtained and measured against the slow, unheralded, unreported war of attrition which the allies are conducting.

So far Germany has not shown that she can conquer Britain, cut off the British food lifeline across the seas, or maintain herself economically in the fact of the blockade.

These facts remain: No nation has ever been conquered by air. The experimental German air attacks so far indicate Hitler can do much damage to the British fleet and economic production, but his ability to use these attacks to subdue Britain or to break the blockade is still doubted strongly here. His submarine warfare has not seriously impaired British sources of supplies and given no indication that he will ever be able to.

On the other foot, Hitler has been cut off from all important outside sources of supplies except Russia, not completely but in general effectiveness. One freighter loaded with cotton from a Florida port reached Germany about ten days ago through the blockade; or at any rate cotton shippers here were astounded to receive private notice of its safe arrival. But the stories from Berlin that Hitler is making arrangements to get great quantities of goods from Russia are simply not believable (especially the latest one that Hitler will manufacture battleships to pay the reds for food when he needs his shipyards as badly as he does now). They are not believable because Russia, under her managed economy, has never been able to produce enough for her own needs.

There is probably not an official in Washington who privately believes Hitler has demonstrated his ability to win anything except the propaganda phase of the war so far. In that his superiority has been apparent.

The generally accepted but unspoken understanding of those close to Mr. Roosevelt (in and near the cabinet) is set forth by one such, in these private words: "FDR does not want to run again, but circumstances may force him to."

It was not Agriculture Secretary Wallace who started the really serious third term talk off again here this time, but rather incoming business men and traveling political scouts who have been returning from the hinterlands with substantially the same message: "The war has put Mr. Roosevelt back on top."

Polls have been showing some bulges in the president's popularity, but the men who know polls rarely become excited over them. They know these may show something else next week. Dring the last presidential campaign the London graph said so deep in most of the polls that the wall of a five-story building would have been required to register its starting and finishing point in chart form.

But when well known troopers who have talked with well advised leaders of communities come in here it is advice that Mr. Roosevelt might be able to carry such states as Massachusetts, New York and Illinois today against anyone you can name, the politics take notice.

Note—Same scouts report the country seems to be rather strongly Republican outside of Roosevelt's personal following and might easily favor a Republican congress at the same time they favor him.

Another foreign purchasing mission is secretly at work in the United States, and not from the European war zone. A committee of Japanese has been negotiating contracts with American manufacturers. One purchase of machinery has been made, apparently to supplant some expected

The Creeping Man

by Frances Shelley Wees

YESTERDAY: After discovery of the $50,000 diamonds, Mr. Forrester and Michael try to persuade the girls to leave the University. They insist on staying. The next morning, Jared Devoe drops in at breakfast time.

CASTING SEEDS

"Your mother is upset . . . because of bad news?" inquired Tuck.

"Yes. That is it. Bad news—strange, perturbing news. News that we do not understand. But I do not make myself clear. I wonder if you have been told just where Professor Murchison, my cousin's husband is at the present moment?" His brown eyes darted to each face.

"We haven't," Michael replied. "I had an idea he was away on a business trip."

"Yes. Someone told you that?" Tuck spoke up. "Mrs. Deane told me that," she said.

"Yes, I see. Well, I don't think he is away on a business trip. But we are not sure just what this business is—or when he is coming back."

"I will tell you the whole story," said Devoe evenly. "He went away one night, and did not tell anyone where he was going—not even his wife. Until last week—and you can imagine the suspense, the wonder, the fears—until last week we heard nothing from him. The police had attempted to trace him and had failed. Then we had a letter from Chicago saying that he was not to worry. It was a very short letter, indicating that he is perhaps absorbed in pressing work of his own, but it gave no indication of his exact whereabouts or the time of his returning."

"A matter of fact, it was most unsatisfactory, but it reassured his wife to a certain extent. However . . ." he paused, and then went on. "Our private affairs are not what trouble us. It is that others, with malicious tongues, are attempting to cause us trouble by spreading my mother's great, and Mrs. Murchison, too."

"I don't quite understand, Mr. Devoe," Michael looked up from the little pile of crumpled cloth on the table before him.

Devoe's face darkened. "No, I hesitate—but I must speak of the matter. You ladies will undoubtedly hear of this, be subjected to these rumors—I must guard you against them. The woman who lives next door to you—Mrs. Murchison—has a strange mind. For some reason at all she will manufacture ugly stories out of whole cloth, and repeat them everywhere. It seems that she has discovered that the Professor's absence has caused us great worry, and that we have not been sure of his exact whereabouts. And she is telling," he frowned angrily—"she is telling that he has gone away with another woman and has left his wife for good. It is jealousy, of course, which makes her able to tell these lies. She hates youth and beauty. She hates my cousin because she is young and beautiful. But it is most unkind, and most annoying."

Mrs. Murchison does not believe that."

"Certainly not. Nothing could be further from her mind."

"And you?"

"He was taken by surprise. He looked at Michael queerly. 'I, too, am convinced that she is very wrong,' he said gravely."

"Then your point is that Miss Lissey is telling these malicious stories and that she is to be stopped?"

"That is it exactly," he paused. "It seems best to give you two ladies the facts. You may have noticed the marks of strain on my mother and Mrs. Murchison at the Deane's last night?" He looked at Bunny squarely.

"Precisely!"

"No," Tuck answered him. "Of course we wouldn't be looking for any such thing."

"No, of course not, unless Miss Lissey had drawn it to your attention previously," he frowned, then looked at Michael. "What would you advise me to do?" he asked. "You understand our predicament. We cannot possibly afford to have ill-chosen rumors and reports carried about the University. It is damaging to Dr. Murchison's professional reputation, and it makes the situation very difficult for his wife."

Michael considered, his head lowered. The sun glinted over his thick black hair. "Other people are familiar with Mrs. Lissey's name for gossip, are they not?" With her abilities to manufacture unpleasant stories?"

"They could not possibly be unaware of her tendencies."

"Then, I should think you have nothing to fear about it. After all, it is only a temporary affair. When Dr. Murchison comes back with a satisfactory explanation of his journeyings, people will forget all about what she has been telling." He lifted his head and looked out of the window.

There was another long silence. Devoe was rubbing thoughtfully at the handle of his spoon. Finally he spoke in a low voice.

"That is just it," he said. "How do we know he will ever return?"

"I beg your pardon?" said Michael as if his ears were deceiving him.

"We do not know where he is, nor why he went. We do not know his plans. He said nothing about returning. In fact," he hesitated—"the tone of the letter made us believe that he meant to stay in his present position. Supposing he never returns? What then?"

Michael laughed. "You are anxious from the Germans when the war broke out."

Congressmen are getting letters from independent theatre operators who say they do not want to show "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," (a picture which does not present congress in particularly glamorous light) but they have no choice because of the practice of block booking. They are writing they do not want to present congress unfavorably to the public, but they cannot help it because the block booking system requires them to buy blind in advance and to pay for the picture whether or not they exhibit it.

No more cunning argument for passage of anti-block booking legislation could be devised, and it may prove effective.

SHOWS GOVERNOR HOW ILLINOIS CAN SAVE 57 MILLION

Rep. Lund Dares Him to Let Assembly Act

Gov. Horner was challenged Wednesday to permit reopening of the subject of economy in state government at the forthcoming special session of the legislature. The challenge came from Representative Arnold L. Lund (R., Riverside), who presented a program for slashing state spending in the next two years by $57,637,740.

Total appropriations for the 1939-41 biennium are $463,001,000. Lund's proposed cut would be 12.4 per cent. Applied to appropriations for general purposes (excluding bond payments and other fixed charges), it would be about 23 per cent.

How It Could Be Done

In the session that ended July 1, Lund vainly attempted to have the 3 per cent sales tax lifted from food. Defeat did not cause him to abandon the plan. Working at home, he studied appropriation bills which had been passed, seeking the answer to the state administration's query: "How could we afford to give up the revenues?"

The answer, according to Lund, is embodied in the 25 page list of proposed reductions in state expenditures which he sent to Gov. Horner yesterday. With it was a letter in which he demanded that the governor include the subject in the call for the special session.

"Every one knows that the more revenue a taxing body receives, the more it will spend," Lund said. "That's why the sales tax should be reduced. Too much money has been appropriated. It should not be spent."

Spending increased 100 Per.

On the new appropriations Lund would use an ax rather than a paring knife. He emphasized, however, that his recommendations could be carried out without detriment to essential state services. He pointed out that general purpose spending has increased more than 100 per cent since the boom year 1929.

"Salary and wage appropriations and expenditures should be brought back to the 1929 level," he said.

"Governmental functions where in duties have been increased are not affected by these reductions. Necessary employees and expenses are not curtailed."

Each division of each department was treated separately in Lund's analysis. Following is a table drawn from his analysis, summarizing departmental appropriations for the 1939-41 biennium, and his proposed reductions:

Department	Appropriation	Proposed saving
Governor	$ 152,200	$ 49,000
Sec. of State	24,600	12,000
Lieut. Gov.	5,522,856	2,003,500
Treasurer	556,370	297,000
Attorney Gen.	928,200	455,000
Gen. assembly	181,000	36,000
Agriculture	5,738,062	1,995,040
Conservation	1,794,120	773,200
Finance	9,073,300	4,120,000
Insurance	1,275,480	670,000
Labor	1,880,634	887,000
Public Health	2,054,821	635,000
Public Welfare	96,192,290	10,250,000

"It looks more like a herring," Bunny answered contemptuously. "Isn't he a horrible creature? I was simply dying to shake salt all over him."

Michael wrinkled his nose. "Poof!" he exclaimed. "What a nasty idea, Bunny. What a nasty idea!"

"I thought he was rather sweet," said Tuck dreamily. "He did so want to get his little idea across, and he had such a dreadful time doing it, poor thing."

"His idea, Tuck?"

"Umhm. That Duncan Murchison is a double-dyed-in-the-wool villain, and knows a lot more than he wants to tell. Wasn't that it?"

Michael laughed. "So I gathered, honey. Apparently, since it got to both of us, that was what he was trying to do. Strike you that way, Bunny?"

"Yes," she said loftily and turned suddenly a faint pink under Tuck's scrutiny.

Michael coughed. "That letter," he said, "is a swell little stopper. I think we will endeavor to pull it out. The soup will then splash on the floor and murder will be out."

But Miss Lissey, Michael? What has she up her sleeve?"

"Oh, her arm, probably. You never can tell."

*Includes $52,192,290 for old age assistance, a fixed sum.

*Does not include $300,000 for flood relief and river and lake control.

Lund admitted that his proposed operation on state spending would hurt the pay rollers, but he said that is the least of his worries.

Lund began his analysis of departments by assailing the $152,200 item earmarked for the governor's office, including $58,000 for the executive mansion in Springfield.

"There is no other home in Illinois that entails that much expense," he wrote. "There is also an item of $8,000 for travel expenses. The public should hardly be made to pay the expenses of the governor to foreign places."

He recommended that $49,000 be lopped off.

Lund urged the consolidation of numerous separate offices in the departments of labor and agriculture.

"There is less employment today than there was in 1929," he said. "Just why the great number of labor department officials are necessary is hard to justify. Fewer factories are in operation, so it is equally difficult to understand the increase in factory inspectors."

Good Publicity for Illinois

Lund discussed the $250,000 appropriation for publicizing the advantages of Illinois in other states. "The best publicity this state can have is to inform manufacturers and business men elsewhere that our taxes are not prohibitive," Lund wrote. "Few business men, large or small, will disagree with that view."

Wages and salaries, travel and office expenses are the important element in increased appropriations for the department of public welfare, in which Lund said $10,250,000 could be cut without harm.

"A survey of the list of employees in the old age assistance division is shocking," he declared. "That 1,200 are not needed cannot be disputed if one takes into account the work they are to perform."

FIRE-FIGHTERS LOSE

The Dixon fire department cribbage team went down in defeat for the third time this fall last evening when Captain George Schultz and his Franklin Grove cribbers swept the boards to the tune of 21 to 15. Captain Dave Kelley and his partner, Joe Miller, were the victims of a 13 to 3 drubbing while Wayne Smith and E. L. Fulmer managed to hold the opposition to a tie count of eight-all. The visiting team was composed of George Schultz, John Vogt, D. D. Stultz and Charles Kelley.

TWO AND TWO MAKE FOUR

We sat with a blank piece of paper and a pencil last night and wound up with some more statistics on the goings-on in the North Central football conference. Here's the mathematical low-down on the league's scoring. These figures are for conference games only:

Individual Scoring

Player—	School—	Touchdowns	Points	Total
Reimann, Belvidere	4	1	25
Hubbard, Sterling	3	0	15
Seno, Mendota	2	1	13
Alms, DeKalb	2	0	12
Fox, Belvidere	1	1	7
Ronan, DeKalb	1	0	6
Schmitz, Mendota	1	0	6
Sawyer, DeKalb	1	0	6
Craig, Belvidere	1	0	6
Mantsch, Dixon	1	0	6
Lear, Belvidere	0	1	1
Dillenbach, DeKalb	0	1	1
DeKalb given 2 points on safety	0	0	2
Total in conference	17	5	109

Following the Dixon-DeKalb game Alms moved from a big tie for fifth place to fourth. Ronan became a newcomer with one touchdown and Dillenbach with one conversion.

Team Scoring

School—	Games	Touchdowns	Points	Total
Belvidere	3	6	3	39
DeKalb	3	4	1 and safety	27
Mendota	3	3	1	19
Sterling	2	3	0	18
Dixon	3	1	0	6

Vols Still Rank No. 1 in AP Poll But Margin is Now Less Decisive

BY BILL BONI

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The backers of Major Bob Neyland's Tennessee Volunteers still are beating the loudest drums on the football bandwagon.

With 67 of 128 experts casting their first-place votes for Tennessee, the Southeastern Conference powerhouse today retained the No. 1 spot in the third Associated Press ranking poll. But the margin was by no means as decisive as it was a week ago, just after Tennessee had handed Alabama a thorough drubbing. Chiefly through their first-place votes, the Vols accumulated 1,120 points. But Michigan, only all-winning team left in the Big Ten, came in a close second with 1,005, and Cornell, No. 1 team in the east and impressive winner over Ohio State last Saturday, jumped from seventh place to third with 933 points. Michigan got 20 first-place votes and Cornell 18.

Two other teams with perfect slates held down fourth and fifth in the ranking. Notre Dame dropped two notches from the runner-up position, and Texas A. and M., Southwest Conference favorite, stayed in fifth place, the same ranking it had a week ago.

All of the other members of the first ten have been tied—Oklahoma, which remained in sixth place; Southern California, which moved from eighth to seventh; Tulane, from ninth to eighth; North Carolina, from 13th to ninth; and Nebraska, a holdover in tenth place.

North Carolina Wins Place
North Carolina, dethroned by Tulane, won its berth by its decisive defeat of Penn. and moved into a vacancy created by the Cornell triumph that booted Ohio State from fourth place into the second division. That the experts are having an easier time weeding out the big ones from the little ones was shown by the fact that only 25 teams figured in this week's voting, compared with 32 a week ago.

The standings of the teams (figured on basis of 10-9-8-7-6 etc., with first-place votes in parentheses):

First Ten	Points
1—Tennessee (67)	1,120
2—Michigan (20)	1,005
3—Cornell (18)	933
4—Notre Dame (12)	858
5—Texas A. and M. (6)	714
6—Oklahoma (2)	605½
7—Southern Calif. (1)	598
8—Tulane (1)	419
9—North Carolina (1)	314
10—Nebraska (1)	180½
Second Ten:	Points
11—Oregon State	76
12—Duke	46
13—Duquesne	44
14—Ohio State	24
15—Kentucky	22
16—Southern Methodist	21
17—New York U.	20
18—Kentucky State	17
19—Clemson	16
20—Alabama	14
21—C. L. A.	14

Also-Ran: Santa Clara 12, Minnesota 6, Holy Cross 3, Dartmouth 2.

Of the rankings, Tennessee and Southern California have this week's toughest assignments. Both teams played in the second tie, the Vols getting their second real test of the season against Louisiana State. The Trojans meet the only all-winning Coast conference team, Oregon State.

Michigan, meanwhile, will be playing Illinois, while Cornell tackles another Ivy leaguer, Columbia; Notre Dame has its annual joust with what is expected to be an improved army team; Texas Aggies face hard-luck Arkansas; Oklahoma plays its second Big Six conference game, with Iowa State; North Carolina meets sub-par N. C. State, and Nebraska seeks to throttle the passing of Missouri's Paul Christman.

FORWARD MARCH

Minneapolis—University of Minnesota has a freshman end, Bob Green, who is said to have caught every pass on which he got his hands in his last two high school seasons.

ROUSING RECRUIT

Boston—Boston Red Sox signed 18-year-old George T. Moran, Jr., who pitched three not-hit games for State Trade School of Putnam, Conn.

ALL-AMERICA BID

Philadelphia—Temple University is booming. Ed Kolman, big senior tackle for All-America recognition.

Halloween with its hobgoblins ends at midnight tonight but the ghosts of past performances in the neighborhood football circles aren't easily shunted back to the cobwebs and will linger around a couple more weeks to haunt the grid teams heading into the November wind-ups.

This week the two conferences, the North Central and the Rock River, will scatter their engagements over a three-day week end instead of concentrating full force on Friday night.

In the Rock River loop the defending champions, Rock Falls, assured itself at least a half of the winner's cake last week end by trouncing Morrison, 25 to 0. This week the leaders will be idle and will polish off their league competition on the Armistice Day week end with Mt. Morris.

While the top ranking squad is resting the Oregon club, close on its heels for a share of the crown, will engage Rochelle on Saturday in what should prove to be one of the most strongly contested games of the season since Oregon and Rock Falls battled to a 2 to 0 decision for the latter club. If the Hawks can defeat the Rochelle Hubs, they are sure of a cut in on the honors only if Mt. Morris bows to Rock Falls.

Polo Vs. Amboy

Two Rock river games will get off to an early start in the week end activities with Polo at Amboy and Mt. Morris at Morrison on Thursday. In the Polo-Amboy affair the two clubs will be battling for a lift out of the cellar with the two now sharing the .000 percentage in the standings. Thus far this season each team has scored only one touchdown in four games. Amboy was successful last week in making the conversion to stand one point ahead of the Marcos in this column. Amboy must meet Rochelle and Polo must tangle with Morrison before the season ends.

University Prof Develops Sports for Later Life

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 31.—(AP)—A doctor of philosophy has taken the dumb-bells out of physical education at the University of Illinois.

In place of such traditional mainstays of the gym as Indian club juggling and calisthenics, Dr. S. C. Staley, head of the school of physical education, has developed a sports curriculum which his colleagues believed helped to start a trend away from perfunctory playing.

Schedules this year list 33 different courses for women, exclusive of professional courses for physical education teachers and athletic coaches.

Among the subjects are swimming, golf, softball, tennis, bowling, ice skating, ball and fly casting, social dancing and horseback riding.

"The purpose of any school," Dr. Staley asserted in an interview, "is to teach activities useful in life, and you can learn only by doing. A good life includes leisure activities—sports."

Something to Continue
"We don't seek to make the students exercise, to make them sweat 30 minutes a day, twice a week, as before. We give them something they'll continue outside the class. They'll play touch football in evenings every day. They'll play golf or tennis, or skate or swim for years."

"We also want students to appreciate the technique of sports and of good performers," he said,

He has written nine books on the subject.

A recent survey disclosed that tennis was the most popular course at the university, followed by softball, skating, bowling and golf.

Asked their reason for choice of courses, 38 per cent of the students listed a desire to improve a skill; 24 per cent a curiosity to learn what a new activity was like; 23 per cent the necessity of taking a second choice because enrollment in their first choice already was filled.

CLAIM THAT HARMON IS EQUAL TO RED GRANGE HAS ILLINI SEETHING

Great Michigan Back Will Romp Over the Gridiron Stripes Once Dashed Off by the Great Number 77 at Champaign

By TOM SILER

Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Sensational Tom Harmon, one and all will agree, is one of the year's finest backs, but the claim that he is the equal of Harold (Red) Grange has the football faithful down at the University of Illinois in a seething rage.

To many midwest grid followers and particularly Illini fans, Grange is the all-time tops for getting to payoff dirt quicker and oftener than anyone else ever did. But you can't put that line over to University of Michigan partisans.

Illinois and Michigan play at Champaign Saturday and the word is out that Harmon, leading scorer of the nation, is set to give the Illini a single-handed beating such as Michigan received at the hands of Grange 15 years ago.

That was the fall day in 1924 when the junior halfback star returned the opening kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown,

Attend Shower
Miss Winnogene Knapp and Mrs. Clarence H. Kersten of this place were included in the guest list at a shower for Miss June Shottentkirk on Wednesday evening. The shower was held at the Joe Harleman home near Kings, with their daughter, Miss Janet as the hostess. Miss Shottentkirk became the bride of Ernest Jacobson of Rochelle on Sunday afternoon. Miss Shottentkirk was the recipient of many useful and pretty gifts from the fifteen guests present. Lunch was served by the hostess at the close of a very pleasant evening.

Four Birthdays Honored
Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nass entertained at a birthday dinner on Sunday, a group of relatives at which time the birthdays of Mrs. Nass, her sisters, Mrs. Dave Pearson of Dixon and Mrs. Sanford Coie of Roscoe, and Mrs. Nass' niece, Vera May Pearson, were celebrated. Guests at the dinner included Mrs. Mary Knauer and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Knauer and daughter Elaine of West Brooklyn, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Pearson and children of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Cole and daughter Nancy of Roscoe, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Chaon and family of this place.

Hallowe'en Party
The Oswin Semmler home west of town was the scene of a merry party on Friday evening when nearly forty children were invited by their teachers, the Misses Evelyn and Esther Semmler, for a Hallowe'en party. Miss Evelyn Semmler is the instructor in the fifth and sixth grade of the local school and her pupils met at the Semmler home. Miss Esther Semmler, who teaches the Hart school, invited her pupils to join them.

All the children were masked and upon their arrival they were met by a ghost who took them on a mysterious tour. The youngsters had a good time guessing who was behind each mask and later they were removed. Games and contests of a Hallowe'en nature were enjoyed and a lovely lunch was served. The children had a grand time and their teachers were very genial hostesses.

A Big Night
Children of Ashton and the surrounding community are looking forward to a big night, tonight, when everybody is invited to the Memorial building this evening for the second annual Hallowe'en party. Everybody includes pre-school children, town and rural school children, high school students and grown-ups.

No admission is to be charged, the balcony to be open to spectators who plan to participate in games on the gym floor are requested to wear gym shoes or soft soled shoes. The party is to be a masquerade with a grand march to decide winners of the best costume. Pre-school age children are invited to come at 6:30 and their part in the program will wind up with a fist bump and tricycle parade. First and second grade children are also included in this group.

The older group of children will assemble at 7 o'clock for the grand march. The evening, a German band will provide music for the march. Games, contests and stunts of various kinds will keep the youngsters busy and light refreshments will be served at 9:30. Promptly at 10 o'clock the party will close.

Supper Well Patronized
The annual Hallowe'en turkey supper, served by the ladies of the Methodist church in the Memorial building on Friday evening was a grand success. Nearly four hundred persons were served, and the serving was done most efficiently. The food was nicely prepared and much credit is due to those who helped in the preparation. Many out of town folks were present.

Missionary Society
The foreign missionary society of the local Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Ralph M. Dreger on Friday afternoon of this week. The devotion will be conducted by Mrs. C. R. Root and Mrs. Dreger will review a chapter from the study book "Women and the Way." Members and friends of the society are invited.

Woman's Club Notes
A very fine representation of the local Woman's club was present at the annual fall meeting of the Lee County Federation of Women's clubs held Friday afternoon at Franklin Grove in the Keshish gymnasium. A black leather portfolio was presented to Mrs. Wallace Clover, president of the local club for the highest attendance percentage. Franklin Grove, the hostess club, had the largest percentage of members present but was not eligible for the attendance award.

The guest speaker was C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago, and each club in the county made some contribution toward the afternoon program. Mrs. T. A. Vaux representing the Ashton club, entertained with a vocal solo. On Friday evening of this week annual husbands' night will be observed. There will be a pot luck supper in the basement of the Methodist church followed by motion pictures in color of Canada. Frank Colehour of Rockford will show these pictures. Each club member has the privilege of bringing her husband or a friend as her guest.

Mrs. Raymond Losey, chairman of the garden department, announces that their department will sponsor a tour to the chrysanthemum show held at the Garfield Park conservatory in Chicago on Nov. 18. Reservations for the tour are to be made by Nov. 11 with either Mrs. Losey or Mrs. Adam Witzel.

"The House on Sand"
"The House on Sand" is a deeply moving play which will be presented at the local Evangelical church on Friday evening, Nov. 3. This play will be presented by a group from the Grace Evangelical church in Dixon. There will be no admission charge but a tree will offering will be received. Everyone is cordially invited to attend this play. Come and bring your friends with you.

Marionette Show

Pupils of the grammar room are sponsoring a marionette show on Nov. 10 and are asking their friends to reserve that date. Miss Helene Thurston of Chicago, who is an internationally famous marionette-maestro has been engaged for that evening. The show will be staged at the Memorial building and the high school orchestra will play.

She came to this vicinity from Florida in 1907. She was married to George Burkhart Dec. 4, 1907, who preceded her in death 2 years ago. Surviving are one son Marvin of near Steward, two brothers Marvin Jackson of Chicago, Jay of Omaha and one sister Amy Epperson of Omaha. The funeral was held Friday afternoon at the George Burkhart church in Steward with burial in Steward cemetery.

World Meet Elsewhere
Chicago, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A committee of Lutheran church executives has recommended cancellation or transfer to some other country of the Lutheran world convention scheduled for next May in Philadelphia.

The American convention committee did not announce its reason but the recommendation was made yesterday after Dr. Ralph H. Long of New York, director of the National Lutheran Council, declared that 200 German Lutheran missionaries in India, East Africa, and Palestine had been interned and their work transferred to churches of neutral countries.

Il Duce Shakes Up Cabinet With Eight Transfers

Rome, Oct. 31—(AP)—Premier Mussolini changed eight ministers and four undersecretaries today in a cabinet shakeup which affected even the chiefs of staff of the army and the fascist militia as well as the fascist party hierarchy.

Lieut. Gen. Achille Starace, secretary of the fascist party since Dec. 12, 1931, was relieved of that post and appointed chief of the general staff of the fascist militia.

IERC SEEKS WAY TO PROVIDE FOR CHICAGO NEEDY

Increased Relief Funds May Be Theme of Call for Legislation

Chicago, Oct. 31—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission met today to make plans for easing Chicago's latest relief crisis, which has brought increasing demands for action by a special session of the legislature next month.

The IERC is scheduled to act on Mayor Edward J. Kelly's proposal to transfer 2,000 relief clients to WPA rolls and on proposals to borrow $1,033,000 from city funds. Kelly recently said the action might make it unnecessary for special session consideration.

Increasing complaints that Chicago's poor were suffering acutely because allotments were cut to 65 per cent of normal budgets have resulted in a deluge of requests on Governor Horner for action by the legislature. The governor has delayed action pending results of a private survey of the relief situation.

Ald. Paul Douglas (D), University of Chicago professor, has led the appeal for increased funds, asserting that many relief clients actually were starving. Leo M. Lyons, IERC secretary has estimated that the $2,300,000 being spent monthly for relief in Cook county is about $1,200,000 short of actual needs.

If relief was included in the special session call it would follow custom established in the last seven years when recurring relief crises in Chicago and onstate required emergency action. Scarcely a year has gone by without a special session on relief.

Wants $6,000,000 Monthly
The legislature last spring authorized a maximum of $4,000,000 monthly for relief despite an IERC statement that $6,000,000 monthly was needed.

Lyons said today that the $1,033,000 advanced by the city from the Chicago relief administration's anticipated tax income next year would permit allotments up to 80 per cent of normal budget requirements.

During September, Lyons reported, 241,882 persons were on relief rolls in Chicago.

WPA officials have not yet approved the plan to transfer 20,000 relief clients to WPA rolls but State Administrator Charles E. Miner said action would be taken in a few days.

Mayor Kelly said transfer of 29,000 to WPA rolls would save the IERC $404,000 a month. He proposed that the IERC provide funds to sponsor WPA projects and in return relief clients would then be paid from Federal funds.

Cook county hospital authorities, interested in comparing a typical relief diet with that of "model" Nazi diets under war-time rationing, reported after a week's test conducted by a Chicago newspaper (The Times) that the Nazi diet was "more nearly adequate" than the relief diet.

CUTS OKLAHOMA STATE COSTS TO FULFILL PLEDGE

Gov. Phillips Does It the Hard Way

Oklahoma, City, Okla. — Politicians laughed when Gov. LeRoy Phillips of Oklahoma set out last January to cut state expenses to two-thirds of their former size.

In addition to being impossible, they said, it was inappropriate for a Democratic chief executive to talk of stringent retrenchment. If the governor was old-fashioned enough to want a balanced budget, they advised him to unearth and levy some new tax.

Today the red haired governor, a 303 pound former University of Oklahoma football player and once a county lawyer, claims he has delivered on his promise—and the records bear him out. He did it the hard way, without raising taxes.

New Dealers Condemn Him
His economies have drawn upon him the political wrath of practically every organized group in the state except business men and church people. He has been condemned by New Dealers relief grabbers, political ward heelers, speculators and others, but he has not been deterred from his course.

His economies extend into many fields of government. Most outstanding is his success in slashing by $11,000,000 the annual bill of $23,000,000 formerly paid for Oklahoma's schools and other institutions.

The highway commission he appointed last January has retired a $5,000,000 deficit it found in its cash drawer. It has since embarked on a pay-as-you-go road building program of $20,000,000 a year.

Inherits Large Deficit
An $18,000,000 deficit inherited by Phillips from his predecessor has been funded at a record low rate of interest.

By holding a tight rein on his first legislature, he has forced it to trim operation expenses from $35,000,000 to $26,000,000 a year. He also induced it to arm him with authority to make additional reductions if he finds that taxes are declining.

Other economies included arbitrarily cutting salary appropriations for all state institutions of higher learning, by halving telephone and stamp funds and by whitening down travel items and by cutting $2,500,000 from the $11,500,000 appropriated to supplement local taxes levied for public funds.—Chicago Tribune.

Judge Considers Plea of Killers for Clemency

Newton, Ill., Oct. 31—(AP)— Circuit Judge James G. Burnside tomorrow will rule on the clemency plea of Mrs. Effie Ramey and Charles W. Kibbler, confessed slayers of her 21-year-old son, Clifford. He said the court also would pass sentence at that time.

The court took the plea under advisement late yesterday after a defense hearing in which Mrs. Ramey reiterated her original story of the slaying.

The 51-year-old mother said she and Kibbler planned the killing to collect $2,000 in insurance on her son's life, that she never had much money and wanted to know "how it feels" to have as much as one thousand dollars.

Clifford was slain during a hunting trip last Sept. 15. Mrs. Ramey and her 61-year-old farmer friend pleaded guilty to murder charge Oct. 20.

Temperance Hill

By Mrs. W. J. Leake

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hillson of Portland, Ore., arrived here Sunday night being called here by the critical illness of their mother, Mrs. Henry Hillson, who has been very ill for the last two weeks.

DINNER GUESTS
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. June and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy June were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Reinboth of Amboy.

P-T-A
The P-T-A. will meet at the school house Friday evening, Nov. 3 at 8 o'clock. It is hoped a good sized crowd will be present as it is election of officers.

Celia Hillson has been spending some time at the John Hillson home during the illness of their mother.

Frank Atkinson visited Sunday with George Killmer at the St. Francis hospital in Peoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler, Mrs. Arthur Watson of Franklin Grove and Arthur Hullah drove to Chicago Sunday to see their sister Mrs. Blanche Belle who is quite ill in a hospital.

Mrs. Belle has been ill for several weeks and a week ago was removed to a hospital.

Gravel roads are said to be the hardest on automobile tires.

SOCIAL SECURITY

SERIES 3

1. Q. How do the old-age insurance amendments affect workers now aged 65 or approaching that age?

A. Through certain changes in the law, older workers now have an opportunity to get monthly benefits, whereas under the original law no one who became 65 before 1942 could qualify for monthly payments. Instead, they received lump-sum payments equal to 3½ per cent of their total wages. In most cases these older workers will get much more under the new program than they would have received before.

2. Q. What are these changes?

A. First, the requirements for receiving monthly benefits have been lowered for those retiring in the early years. Second, the provision which excluded wages earned after 65 from counting toward benefits has been removed; this change is made effective as of Jan. 1, 1939.

3. Q. What are the requirements for receiving monthly benefits beginning in January 1940?

A. To receive such benefits as soon as they become payable next year, a worker must have reached 65 and retired he must have been employed in work covered by the system for six calendar quarters after 1936, and in each of these quarters his covered wages must have come to at least $50.

4. Q. Will the Social Security Board continue to authorize the payment of "lump sums" to workers reaching the age of 65?

A. No. The payment of lump sums of this nature stopped when the amendments were signed. With the removal of the "stop date" at age 65, all workers in covered employment, regardless of age, now have an opportunity to build up enough wage credits to qualify for monthly retirement benefits. Many who would have received a lump sum under the act before it was changed can qualify under the amendments for monthly benefits beginning January 1, 1940, provided they retire from covered employment, on the basis of the wages they have earned under the program since 1936.

5. Q. Take the case of a man earning $75 a month regularly since 1936. He will be 65 on Dec. 31, 1939. What would he have received under the old plan and what will he get under the amendments?

A. If the act had not been changed, he could have received only a lump sum of 3½ per cent of his total wages of $2,700, or $84.50. Under the amended program he can get $27.17 a month for the rest of his life, beginning with Jan. 1, 1940, provided he retires on reaching 65, in addition, if his wife is 65 she will receive $11.58 a month, making a monthly total of $34.75.

6. Q. If the act had not been changed, he could have received only a lump sum of 3½ per cent of his total wages of $2,700, or $84.50. Under the amended program he can get $27.17 a month for the rest of his life, beginning with Jan. 1, 1940, provided he retires on reaching 65, in addition, if his wife is 65 she will receive $11.58 a month, making a monthly total of $34.75.

7. Q. If the act had not been changed, he could have received only a lump sum of 3½ per cent of his total wages of $2,700, or $84.50. Under the amended program he can get $27.17 a month for the rest of his life, beginning with Jan. 1, 1940, provided he retires on reaching 65, in addition, if his wife is 65 she will receive $11.58 a month, making a monthly total of $34.75.

8. Q. If the act had not been changed, he could have received only a lump sum of 3½ per cent of his total wages of $2,700, or $84.50.
